A Philadelphia dispatch says rumors were current on the street to-day of Col. Tom Scott's resignation of the Vice Presidency of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, but the result of careful inquiry proves their falsity. Many believe that a majority of the rumors are invented and spread in the interest of stock speculators.

American Missionary Society.

The American Missionary Society met at Newark to-day. The report of the Committee on Chinese shows 50,000 in California. It recommends that they be christianized before they are permitted to vote. The report on Indians states that their advancement in Christianity and the arts is encouraging.

The Bricklayers' Strike.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The bricklayers' are still on a strike. The Central Council Union, order of American bricklayers, met last night in secret session. It was stated that a compromise was suggested, that employers should only deduct 25 cents instead of 50 cents from a day's pay.

Relief of Memphis Sufferers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Nine police precincts return over $4,000, contributed at the polling places on election day for Memphis. The police have contributed $2,000 for the police of Memphis.

Exciting Scene in Court.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Judge Davis and Mr. Bartlett of the counsel for Tweed, at the trial to-day had another tilt. The Judge had decided Orrell, after long examination, "competent," when Bartlett rose to comment on admission by witness, tending to show incompetency. Judge Davis peremptorily refused to hear another word on the subject, and in the course of the dialogue Bartlett said: "As your Honor will not hear argument after decision, would you inform us when the next juror is called that you will hear argument before decision."

Judge Davis, angrily—"Sit down."

Bartlett—"I refer your Honor to Justice Chase and many other authorities."

Judge Davis, rapping with his gavel—"Sit down, sir, sit down; be cautious, sir, or I will refer you to a still later case."

Bartlett—"I did refer you to a still later case. I did not hear your Honor."

Judge—"Another repetition of that, or anything of that character, will fall down upon you in a way that may not be pleasant."

The juror was then peremptorily challenged by the defense. Reference to Justice Chase was understood to be to that Judge's impeachment for irregularities on the bench.

The S[illegible]hern Rail[illegible] Strikes.

KNOXVILLE, Nov. 6th.—No settlement of the railroad troubles yet. The strikers are quiet; both sides firm and determined. The employees of the Knoxville and Ohio road struck against a reduction of wages. The Company has stopped its trains. The [illegible] of twenty Southern roads met at Chat[illegible]y, and unanimously resolved in favor of a just and [illegible]nable reduction of wages, and against all unlawful exactions and interference of strikers with roads. All the companies in the United States are invited to co-operate.

S[illegible] and Red[illegible] of Wages.

The rope came off his neck and his body fell over heavily on the ground. He was then carried to the scaffold and hanged again.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Virginius Affair.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The Department states that up to noon to-day it had received no official information concerning the steamer Virginius, further than the mere fact of the capture. The Navy Department has no official news on the subject, there being no government vessels in the neighborhood of the capture. Registers are granted to vessels to continue till they are sold or change their names. No intelligence relating to either of these points, as to the Virginius having changed the department books of the Treasury Department show that the register originally granted to the Virginius remains unchanged. The news received to-day of the execution of the prominent persons captured on board the Virginius, occasions much surprise in all circles, it not being supposed that the trial would be so summary. The subject was disc[illegible]d at the Cabinet council.

D[illegible]

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—A Washington special says the [illegible]mates for the [illegible] service is $6,725,000, an increase over last year of $1,272,000. The total increase in the estimates of the Interior Department, including the above for the Indian service, is $1,800,000, or only [illegible] $600,000 increase for the entire Department outside the Indian bureau. A TREMENDOUS ECHO.—Lake Awosting on the Shawangunk mountain, has a most remarkable echo. Eight distinct words rapidly uttered are repeated plainly eleven times in succession, and when the innumerable reiterations that follow have seemingly died away in the distance, the whole sentence comes back from a central focus of sound with a terrific shout, followed by a dead silence. The firing of a gun is su[illegible]d by a perfect fusilade of musketry among the cliffs, ending in a clap of thunder.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 7.—An inquest was held to-day on the body of Mary McArthur, a married woman, aged thirty-five, who died suddenly early this morning at the Orphan Asylum. The evidence elicited the following facts: A child of the deceased had been an inmate of the Asylum for some time, the father promising to pay its support but failed to do so. For the past two months Mrs. McArthur has been allowed to stay at the Asylum, being in destitute circumstances. On Tuesday last she purchased an ounce of corrosive sublimate, ostensibly to kill bed bugs, a portion of which she swallowed last night, causing death. Verdict accordingly.

They are all well armed and draw rations whether on or off reservations. Just as long as this state of affairs exists, peace remains uncertain, as at present disaffected and bad Indians of other tribes feed and recruit on this reservation, and come and go at will. This is well known on other reservations and hinders Gen. Crook's discipline.

GENERAL NOTES

Fifty years ago the following advertisement appeared in a Cincinnati paper: "Passengers wanted—A wagon will start for New York City in about two weeks. Five passengers will be accommodated at $25 each."

Some comparisons are suggestive. Thus one man in St. Louis, who lost a leg, sues for $20,000 damages, and another man, whose reputation was ruined by a scandalous libel, sues for $2,000. One leg in St. Louis is therefore worth ten reputations.

An immense stone, twenty-one feet long, seventeen feet wide and three feet thick, and weighing 119 tons, has recently arrived at Washington, by schooner from the Cape Ann quarries, and is to be followed by three others, weighing respectively eighty-four, forty-eight and thirty-seven tons, to be used in the construction of the Scott monument. The price paid for the blocks is $40,000, and special machinery will have to be devised for hauling them through the streets, in order that the pavements may not be crushed.

YALE PRIZES.—New Haven papers say that a prize of $250, the largest offered, and called the John A. Porter prize, will be given at the next Yale commencement for the best essay on any one of the following list of subjects: 1. "The Causes of Cromwell's Failure." 2. "The Policy of Government Aid to Scientific Research—the best modes and the limits of its application." 3. "The Madonna in Christian Art." 4. "The Functions and Responsibilities of an opposition Party." 5. The German School of Shakespearean Criticism. 6. "The Whig Party in America." Any person regularly studying for a degree in any department of the university, and having been so engaged for one year preceding the college commencement in 1874, may write for the prize. The successful competitor must waive all claim to the essay, which if judged of sufficient merit, will be published. Unless the judges think the best essay offered worthy of the award no prize will be given.

QUEER FLAVOR FOR COFFEE.—The Huntington (Pa.) Journal relates that recently a couple of hands on a wood train prepared their dinner upon a chopping. Among other luxuries, they made themselves a cup of coffee. However, while drinking the coffee, they thought it had a queer taste, and immediately after they were seized with violent vomiting. They determined to examine their teapot, and in the bottom of it found a copperhead snake.

THE LATE CHIEF JUSTICE.

ELOQUENT PANEGYRIC BY JUSTICE CLIFFORD IN RESPONSE TO THE EULOGY BY ATTORNEY GENERAL WILLIAMS.

When the resolutions of the Bar, on the death of Chief Justice Chase, were presented by Attorney-General Williams, at the opening of the Supreme Court of the United States, on the 23d of October, Justice Clifford said:

GENTLEMEN OF THE BAR: Providence has ordained that man must die, and it is a matter of solemn import to every reflecting mind that the sentence applies to the whole human family, without regard to station, attainment, or usefulness.

None of those who occupied these seats sixteen years ago are now here to participate in these commemorative proceedings, and only two of the number then in office survive to join in the general sorrow so well expressed in the resolutions of the bar, for the great loss which the country has sustained by the death of the late Chief Justice of this Court. Vacancy followed vacancy subsequent to that period, until the place of the Chief Justice and those of his associates were all filled by new appointments, and the junior of the immediately succeeding period, who was appointed to fill a prior vacancy, has become the senior associate justice of the court.

Great events in the meantime have occurred. State after State seceded, and the rebellion came and was crushed. Slavery was abolished, and amendments were made to the Constitution to make it conform to that great change in the social relations of the States affected by the event. New laws were passed extending the jurisdiction of the court, and vastly augmenting its labors and responsibilities.

Gratitude is due to Providence that the lives and health of the present members of the court have been preserved throughout that period, and for the success which has attended their efforts, aided by the wise counsels of the late Chief Justice, in upholding all the safeguards of liberty ordained in the Constitution. Civil war raged for a time with all its demoralizing influences, but the court continued calm and unswerved, and the Constitution remains unimpaired to shed its benign influences upon the whole people of the country, and to secure the blessings of liberty to the present generation and to their posterity.

Death has now again entered these walls, and, for a second time within the period mentioned, has removed the Chief Justice of the court. Such a loss is deeply felt by the whole country, and by none more heavily than by those connected with this tribunal. Whenever a good man dies, in any walk of life, there group around him in his last repose a mourning throng of sad regrets from the hearts of all who may have either experienced or witnessed his beneficence. But when, from some dignified and elevated station of public trust, obedient to the inevitable summons, a great and good man drops suddenly and noiselessly away in the comprehensive sphere of whose high duties nothing remains but the solemn and suggestive silence of vacancy, a people's grief surrounds the grave to do justice to his motives and to award their saddened and affectionate approbation of his official services and public acts.

Difference of opinion, envy, or jealousy may have created barriers to a just appreciation of such a man during the active and angry struggles of life, but when the curtain of death interposes its impenetrable mystery between him and the li[illegible] that involuntary homage which human nature instinctively pays to its true noblemen is almost always sufficient to hush such influences, and override every such barrier.

Passions of the kind cloud the understanding, and too often prevent any impartial judgment upon the life and character of a cotemporary, until the brief contentions of the world are left behind him, and he has passed that solemn portal toward which all human life is only the pathway. Influences of the kind sometimes affect even the public judgment, and compel men at last to exclaim, "Our blessings brighten as they take their flight." Whether good or bad, the public man to whom, under a government of the structure of ours, has been committed the sacred duty of high public office, can ask no more, nor can his friends, than that those who desire to review his acts, shall be governed by the inflexible standard of justice, looking to his motives and purposes as embodied in his acts, when properly construed in the light of the circumstances of his life, and the nature, difficulty, and peril of his public duty.

Without a thought of anything so invidious as a comparison of merit, it may be said that of all the characters who were chief and prominent amid the swift and terrible commotions from which our country has little more than just emerged, none bore a more perplexing and onerous share of the public duty than the man to whose memory, more especially as its Chief Justice, the supreme judicial tribunal of the nation now pays its sad tribute of mourning and respect.

* * * * * *

Difficult and untried questions were constantly arising during the early stages of the late rebellion, and none will deny the eminent usefulness of the Chief Justice in solving the difficulties, or call in question his sagacity or forecaste in respect to the effect and termination of that unhappy conflict, as it is within the recollection of many that he was able to look beyond the mist of civil agitation, and even through the darker and more frightful cloud of civil war, and to see nearer and nearer every hour the approaching dawn of a day, under whose light all those threatening aspects would be dispelled.

Difference of opinion cannot exist as to the variety or importance of his public services, but it is a mistake to suppose that purely intellectual efforts are in every case the unfailing index of the greatness of a man or that they always furnish the correct means of estimating the value of his public services, as such efforts, though great, may be accompanied by such vices of heart and defects of disposition as greatly to lessen, or even destroy, their influence in such an estimate. Purity, impartiality, love of justice and respect for public and private rights are essential elements of greatness in a public man; and in every such respect the character of our deceased brother challenges our highest admiration. His respect for public and private rights is universally acknowledged, and neither envy nor malice ever called in question the purity of his life or his impartiality in the performance of his public duties.

* * * *

During the rebellion probably no one mind could have successfully met all the requirements of public duty which the exigency presented as the country had a war to wage, a Union to preserve and a Constitution and Government of laws to uphold and maintain, for which purpose a conservative judgment in the judiciary was well nigh as essential as the courage of the soldier, or the wisdom of the Executive, or the patriotism and forecast of Congress. Heavy responsibilities rested upon all, and it was fortunate that the Supreme Court, throughout a large portion of that period enjoyed the benefit of the wisdom and forecast of the late Chief Justice.

Defects he doubtless had, but he had a calm composed mind, in whose placid depths the bewildering events of the national conflict were wisely and clearly reflected, and in most cases correctly exhibited to the otherwise perplexed comprehension of many other persons. Clearness, repose and depth characterized his intellect. Few men were better able to analyze the events of that period as they occurred and to foresee with more unerring accuracy their effect upon the future welfare of the country when the conflict should end, and it is to these rare great attributes of mind that the inquirer must turn if he would understand how it was that he was able to discharge with such success the duties of Chief Justice after years of such diverse employment, and without much opportunity of preparation, except what he acquired in those employments and in his early practice. Revered and conspicuous names had previously filled that station, but it may be said, without fear of contradiction, that our departed associate was a fit successor of Marshall and Taney.

Summoned, as he was, to the station of Chief Justice of this court from a life largely spent in the executive, legislative and administrative departments of the public service, surprise may well be felt at his great success as a judge, especially in view of the events which transpired within the period he held the office, and of the great importance and exceptional character of the judicial duty he had to perform. Numerous cases presented for decision within that period involved questions of prize and the exposition of the law of nations or the application of the laws of war and many others have respect to the rights, obligations, duties and privileges of citizens, and it is for that reason as well as others that they will ever be regarded as of great value to the public as well as the legal profession.

But it would be a great error to suppose that the Chief Justice entered upon his high office with partial qualifications for its important duties. On the contrary, he brought to the office a profound and comprehensive mind, familiarized with almost every variety of public duty, and matured, strengthened, and developed by a long and most instructive experience. He was deeply versed in the great principles of jurisprudence, and upon his accession to the bench bent all the energies of his powerful mind to a mastery of the peculiarities and history of Federal judicial decision. His faculties were eminently adapted to the comprehension of legal science, and so readily did he solve controvertal questions of private right that the principles of law and equity seemed almost inherent in his nature.

Appointed, as it were, by comment consent, he seated himself easily and naturally in the chair of justice, and gracefully answered every demand upon the station, whether it had respect to the dignity of the office or to the elevation of the individual character of the incumbent; or to his firmness, purity, or vigor of mind. From the first moment he drew the judicial robes around him he viewed all questions submitted to him as a judge in the calm atmosphere of the bench, and with the deliberate consideration of one who feels that he is determining issues for the remote and unknown future of a great people.

Throughout his judicial career he always maintained that dignity of carriage and that calm, noble, and unostentatious presence that uniformly characterized his manners and deportment in the social circle, and in his intercourse with his brethren his suggestions were always couched in friendly terms, and were never marred by severity or harshness. Even when disease had shattered his physical strength and written its effect in deep and haggard lines upon his countenance, it was unable to rob him of his accustomed air of grandeur, which was merely the outward expression of an elevated and noble nature. Disease, however, overpowered his strength, and he has closed his life, rich in honor and highly rewarded by the affection and respect of his countrymen. He died with the armor of duty on, wearing the honors of a great and conscientious magistrate.

Since death was inevitable, the highest affection could scarcely desire a more fitting departure from the scenes of earth, as he had rounded an arduous and useful life with a period of eight years of most delicate and important services as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the nation, having accomplished a long, consistent and successful public career, and closed it with the honorable exercise of the highest attributes of the human judgment.

Difficulties at all times attend the responsibilities of the Chief Justice of this Court, but it should be remembered that the subject of these remarks was called to that elevated station during the most stormy and angry period of our national history, and it is praise enough to be able to say that he met all those exigencies with a calm and conscientious sense of duty, and such, in my judgment, will be the verdict which the present generation will transmit to posterity; to which, permit me to add, that the Justices of this Court have lost a revered companion, and the public a great magistrate and an upright public servant. Our loss is great, but the loss of his children and grandchildren is much greater, and to them we tender out sincere sympathies.

The Court cordially concurs in the resolutions of the bar as presented by the Attorney General, and direct that the resolutions, together with the proceedings of the bar and the remarks of the Attorney General and of the Court, be entered in the minutes; and the Court, from respect to the memory of the deceased, stands adjourned until to-morrow at 12 o'clock.—Washington Chronicle, Oct. 24th

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE CONVENTION.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 6, 1873

The Convention was called to order at 7 P. M. last evening, Mrs. Allen in the Chair.

Tacoma Hall was completely filled on the occasion by Legislators, members of the Association ladies and gentlemen, and the meeting was conducted in a thoroughly business-like manner throughout.

Mrs. Duniway addressed the audience, especially the members of the Legislature present, for about one hour, but as your readers have probably heard the lady speak on the same subject before, it is needless for me to refer to it now.

Mrs. E. L. Smith read a speech delivered by Col. Higginson, which was listened to with the interest it deserved, the reader having a rich, clear voice, which added materially to the effect of such a document.

Col. Joe Meek, the pioneer missionary from Oregon to Washington, having been introduced by Mrs. Duniway, made a few very entertaining remarks. It was his opinion "that woman could exercise the right of suffrage as intelligently as the negro down South, who has no more sense than a South American monkey." It has long been said that "westward the star of empire takes its way," but he would like to reverse the matter and send it East awhile, let us adopt woman suffrage, and send that over the mountains on its way to greet our friends at the East. He was getting along in years, but he hoped to see the rights of the ballot extended to woman, and that soon.

Mrs. Sylvester then addressed the audience for a short time, treating the subject in a most creditable, easy and lady-like manner. She fully expects and hopes that before five years, woman suffrage will be general all over the United States, and corruption cease to exist.

Short speeches were also made by Mr. Clarke, the member from Clarke county, McCaton, Judge Allen, Col. Wallace and others, and a lengthy but pleasing poem, recited by Miss Dora McCord, of Seattle.

After which the Convention adjourned sine die.

COL. HUGHES AND HIS DUEL.—The attempt to deceive the voters of Virginia in regard to the eligibility of Col. R. W. Hughes to the office of Governor of the State, has drawn out a brief address from the Republican State Committee, in which they deny that there was any duel on the occasion alluded to that there was any challenge to fight a duel with deadly weapons, that any challenge was borne at all, that any challenge was borne by Col. Hughes, and that any act was committed in Virginia, or in Tennessee, which could possibly implicate Col. Hughes in a violation of the laws of Virginia. And they allege that he took no other part in the difficulty with which he is alleged to have been connected than that of trying to effect an amicable settlement. The committees add: "We announce the most cheering news as to the prospects of our cause in all parts of the State. A faithful turn out of the Republican voters will insure the triumph of our ticket. We therefore invoke our friends everywhere to diligence, confidence, and faithful work up to and on the day of the election. We call attention to the fact that this party which has complained so bitterly of test-oaths and disfranchisements, are now insisting upon applying them to a man whose worst offense, according to their own admission, has been his fidelity to the cause of a friend."

A Silver City woman dressed up in her husband's clothes the other night and went on a sparking expedition to a young lady in the neighborhood. We havn't learned whether she succeeded in fanning the tender flame in the young lady's bosom or not.

OREGON.

Raining at Oakland yesterday.

Yamhill has now five representatives in the penitentiary.

There are 190 scholars in attendance at the Albany district school.

William Nolton has been arrested in Salem for giving whisky to an Indian.

The Sheriff of Marion county has collected $88,400 during the current year.

Numerous new comers are settling in various parts of Oregon. They are welcome.

Rev. Addison Jones, of Salem, will preach at the Baptist church in Oregon City on Sunday next, to-morrow.

The bridge across the Yamhill at McMinnville has been carried away. Another will soon be built in its place.

McMinnvillians enjoy great Gospel privileges. Five preachers held forth in that town at the same hour last Sunday.

Jurors at the October term of the Circuit Court for Yamhill county cost the county only $323, while at the spring term it cost $1,097.

A Yamhill boy has killed one hundred gophers the past season, and received as a reward from a farmer a horse, a new hat and a pair of boots.

Mr. Levi Leland organized a new Lodge of Good Templars last Tuesday, near the residence of Mr. Wm. Holmes, about a mile from Oregon City.

The Oregon City Enterprise says: From every section of our county we hear of new settlers coming in. Clackamas is evidently taking a start in the right direction.

A flock of 72 fine Cotswold sheep passed through McMinnville on the 6th, on their way to the farm of J. J. Burton, North Yamhill. They came from the farm of Mr. John Campbell, on the South Yamhill.

The Clackamas County Court has been in session the past week. But little business was transacted. The tax levy for 1873 was made as follows: For State purposes, 5½ mills; school, 3 mills; county, 10½ mills; total, 19 mills.

The action of Martha Perry against Yamhill county was tried last week, and a verdict for $200 damages rendered for the plaintiff. She claimed $675 as damages done her land by reason of the location of a county road through her premises.

The Albany Democrat says: Mr. C. Mealey, who is at present under a cloud because of alleged complicity in the Mary Hardman case, is at present a member of the City Council, and has heretofore sustained an unsullied reputation in this community.

The Yamhill Reporter hints at defalcation thus: "It is pretty generally believed that there is one less "Harris & Miller" in this country, and it is painfully certain that they have played the rogue with their creditors in the amount of several thousand dollars."

A new Sunday School was organized at McMinnville on Sunday, the 26th ult., at the M. E. Church, by Rev. T. A. Wood. The membership numbers some 35, teachers and scholars. This makes three Sunday Schools in the place, and all of them in a prosperous condition.

The medical department of the Willamette University is in a most satisfactory and flourishing condition. Dr. Carpenter, Dean of the faculty, informs the Mercury that fifteen students are already registered, and it is expected this number will be increased to twenty in a short time.

John F. Miller, late one of the Capitol Building Commissioners, has resigned his office, the work on the State House having closed for this year, and business enterprises for next season, inconsistent with his duty on this Board, rendering this step necessary. The Governor has appointed Hon. E. L. Bristow, of Lane county, to fill the Board.

Deputy J. H. Tharpe installed the following newly elected officers of Prohibition Lodge, I. O. G. T., at Oakland, last Saturday evening: John Barker, W. C. T.; Miss Nancy Manning, W. V. T.; John Sloan, W. S.; H. P. Watkins, W. T.; Lafayette Manning, W. F. S.; M. H. Hobart, W. M.; J. T. Smith, W. C.; H. Howard, W. I. G.; G. G. Mickle, W. O. G.

The Enterprise of Oregon City says: "A subscription paper has been in circulation to obtain funds to erect a monument to the memory of Dr. Forbes Barclay. At a meeting held last Friday evening, Major Charman was selected Chairman and A. Noltner Secretary of the Committee. It is useless for us to state that that this object is a worthy one, as no man in our community was held in greater esteem than the Doctor, and he having devoted much of his time and talents for the benefit of our city, it is but due to his memory that we place a suitable monument over his remains."

THE TERRITORIES.

The bark Antioch arrived at Iquique, Peru, Sept. 8th from Seattle.

J. Miller Murphy, of Olympia, Territorial Auditor, has filed his official bonds.

One hundred and sixty-five Chinamen are employed in grading the Tacoma town site.

The streams in Idaho have frozen up and mining and mills have been stopped thereby.

The Washington Territory Legislature will adjourn its present session on Saturday, the 15th inst.

One thousand and forty dollars have been raised by subscription to build a new school house at Silver City.

Samuel Holmes, an old and much respected citizen of Olympia, died at that place November 5th, at the age of 56 years.

The game of "going through" Chinamen on the highway is becoming common about Idaho, according to the World.

The Indians burned a large amount of hay for H. E. Leslie, on the Owyhee river, about 10 miles from its mouth, a short time since.

It is reported that the Washington Territory Legislature will probably appropriate about $3,000 in aid of the Territorial University at Seattle.

The citizens of Nez Perces county, Idaho, held a mass meeting at Lewiston last week, to forward the project of annexation to Washington Territory.

C. S. Merriman, mate of the ship Dashing Wave, plying between Puget Sound and Callao, Peru, died of paralysis at the latter place, in October. He leaves a family on the Sound.

Puget Sound laths have recently gone down in the San Francisco market from $5 to $3 and $4 per thousand. An extra large shipment from Seabeck on the ship Isaac Jeans is the reputed cause of the decline.

The Lewiston (Idaho) Signal asks if anybody has lost a bear, and says: "A big bear, with a foot on him that makes a track seven inches across the broadest part, and ten or eleven in length? If any one has lost such an animal they can find him somewhere around Pete King's, on the Middle Fork of Clearwater. He has killed several of King's hogs, and has thrown down his fence."

A certain old bachelor, who resides on the road between Silver and Boise City, was to have been married to a beautiful daughter of the Emerald Isle at the latter place last Sunday—but he was not. The young lady insisted upon her would-be husband joining the Catholic Church previous to the performance of the ceremony that would make their hearts beat in unison forever. He stoutly refused, and the wedding was no go.

A letter from Warrens, Idaho, says: "The placer mines throughout the camp have mostly stopped their wheels and pumps, and housed up their tools, and are betaking themselves, some to winter quarters in warmer climates, and others to snugly constructed cabins or to the quartz ledges hereabout. We had an uncommonly cold snap last week, with several inches of snow, which is not likely to all melt away until next spring."

The list of officers of the Washington Territorial Woman Suffrage Association, elected November 4th, for the ensuing year, is as follows: Mrs. Theobalds, Seattle, President; Mrs. N. C. Allen, Vice President; Mrs. A. H. H. Stewart, Recording Secretary; Mrs. G. Smith, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. C. E. Sylvester, Treasurer; Madames G. A. Barnes, S. B. Yesler, Seattle; A. Giddings, H. A. B. Corts, E. T. Munson, Executive Committee.

The Clark county (Wisconsin) Republican of a recent date says: "R. F. Sturdevant, Esq., the present efficient District Attorney of the county, has disposed of his property in this place, and will leave here some time during the present month for a permanent location in Washington Territory. Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Sturdevant, two of our oldest and most highly esteemed residents, will make the journey to Washington Territory with their son, R. F. Sturdevant, Esq. They will visit friends in that section, and remain if the country suits them, which their numerous friends here by no means hope for."

WATERED STOCK.

In a recent number of the New York Herald we notice a tabular statement of the funded and floating debt, the cost of equipment, the nominal capital stock and the actual stock interest (or difference of cost in excess of debt) of the railway system of the United States. The tables are based on good and reliable authority and they show in unmistakable terms the real cause of grievance which lies at the bottom of the transportation difficulties in this country. It has for a long time been known that the men who operate, control and furnish the capital which has organized the railway system of the United States have made and are making enormous private fortunes while the producing classes, the honest laborers by whose toil and taxes these great corporations are builded, have suffered and are suffering from their extortions. One of the most important results of the Farmers' War in the West is the development of the [illegible] system of watering capital stock. [illegible] it nefarious because when judged by the common rules of business honesty this practice which has been nursed by [illegible] into a system, assumes the hue of [illegible] dealing—robbery, in short. For instance: We find that the nominal capital [illegible] of all the railways in operation in the State of New York is $250,433,898; [illegible] funded and floating debt is $109,770,237; [illegible] of equipment is $306,163,325. The [illegible] between the cost and the debt, [illegible] is represented by $196,393,088, and [illegible] represents the actual stock [illegible]. Now subtract the actual stock [illegible] from the nominal stock, as given [illegible] we have $54,040,810, and this [illegible] as watered stock. That is, the [illegible] of New York have to pay interest [illegible] millions of dollars more than [illegible] really represent. So in [illegible] the difference between the [illegible] the actual stock amounts to [illegible] of dollars. In Ohio it [illegible] a half millions. The [illegible] on this enormous amount in each [illegible] paid in the shape of freight and [illegible]. And so in every State [illegible] Union this enormous and unnecessary [illegible] watered stock is carried [illegible] toiling people. It varies in [illegible] States and Territories from [illegible] to the figure in New [illegible] already given.

[illegible] and extent of this robbery [illegible] uded. There is not a [illegible] in the United States which [illegible] to-day from the exagger[illegible] ents of railway com[illegible]. In California the watered stock [illegible] and one-half millions. [illegible] in San Joaquin Valley pays [illegible] company which [illegible] grain to the seaport fully [illegible] than that company [illegible] to. He is paying in[illegible] lions capital. It may be [illegible] the charges are reasonable, that [illegible] are not exhorbitant. If [illegible] so much as that and we [illegible] it would yet appear that if [illegible] required to pay interest [illegible] amount of stock which [illegible] freight rates could be re[illegible] which would make a [illegible] the farmer a certainty, [illegible] three-fifths of the farms in [illegible] of California are mortgaged be[illegible] the inability of farmers to meet [illegible]. But Leland Stan[illegible] his [illegible] are accumulating [illegible] fortunes while starvation hovers [illegible] door. Only a few [illegible] they were men of modest [illegible]. Is any one wonder that the [illegible] California rebelled against their [illegible]? [illegible] any one a word of con[illegible] to utter against the debt-rid[illegible] of that State, who saw in the [illegible] of either of the great political [illegible] a surety that further legislation [illegible] be had for the tyrants and against [illegible], and who were ready to sink [illegible] views and abjure the much talked of [illegible] loyalty" to save themselves from [illegible] and ruin?

The [illegible] of watered stock, upon [illegible] the people of the United States are [illegible] to pay interest, reaches the hugh [illegible] of $200,000,000!

[illegible] consider this for a moment: that [illegible] railways were built by the magnifi[illegible] of the people; that in many in[illegible] the General Government lent its [illegible] to aid in creating this power, which [illegible] grown to such threatening di[illegible]. The railroad organ in this [illegible] was founded and liberally endowed [illegible] purpose of extolling the sagacity [illegible] enterprise which moved the present [illegible] monarchs to engage in this profit[illegible] business. It would have us believe that they took enormous risks; that they [illegible] periled their credit and put large personal and private interests at stake; that they are, in fine, the greatest public benefactors of the age. Their praises are rung in our ears day in and day out. This is because they, like all sordid men, can never get a surfeit of flattery.

What, then, is the railway builder an evangel of progress and civilization, a [illegible] sacrificing missionary of national advancement, and are the people entitled to no credit? Let us remember when we laud the good-will of the garroter whose hand is on our throat, that we are entertaining him with our tongue while he is going through our purse. The people have encouraged the building of railways by liberal gifts from the public domain and from the public treasury. They have donated large grants of lands and princely subsidies. It was not any one Congress that did these things;—it was the whole people. Then the speculator or adventurer borrowed money in Europe on these grants and subsidies. With this borrowed money the roads were built. In no instance, of which we have any knowledge, was a single dollar from any private fortune expended in building and equipping any of the railways constructed within the last ten years. And the men who used other people's money to their own advantage are to-day the merciless railway tyrants of America. They were adventurers and speculators when they went in: they came out rich as Crœsus and despotic as Nero. They engaged in this as they would engage in any other business—because they thought they saw a good thing. Away with this delusive cant about the benefactions and public virtues of the railway tyrants. The people were the builders, and to them belongs the credit. The railway system of the United States testifies to the progressive spirit and the liberal hand of the American people, more than it shows the unselfish public-spiritedness of the individual instruments who were used in the work. The interest on two hundred millions of watered stock is a part of the spoils of these public plunderers. And we are expected to thank them for robbing us, and encourage them in planning new thefts. The people are in no humor to do this thing.

DEPARTURE OF MR. NESMITH.

On yesterday, Hon. J. W. Nesmith, Congressman-elect, left Oregon for the national capital. His official labors will begin on the first Monday in December. We hope they will be attended with the same success which characterized the honorable gentleman's career as a Senator. Mr. Nesmith takes with him the best wishes of the people of the whole State, whose representative he has become. But more than all else, he takes with him an unspotted reputation and the prestige of an illustrious record in the higher branch of the national legislature. We are sure that he will do nothing to mar that record, and we join with the Bulletin of yesterday in assuring the people of Oregon that their interests are safe in his hands. Many harsh and bitter things have been said of Mr. Nesmith during the recent exciting campaign, but these were in great measure atoned for on yesterday. Our distinguished Congressman will find that the people of Oregon will sustain him in every honest and upright work he may undertake. Mr. Nesmith was elected by the forbearance of the Republicans of this State. We hope he will appreciate his duty to the whole people. With all confidence that he goes to a seat he is qualified to fill, we wish him a hearty God-speed.

MORE INDIAN TROUBLES.

We are told in our morning dispatches that the Indians about Fort Sill are again on the war-path. In the New York Herald of October 28th we find a telegram stating that the famous Kickapoos, whose raids into Mexico have been the subject of frequent complaints from the authorities of that country, were at that time on their way from Texas to Fort Sill. Put these two reports together and it may be apparent that the troublesome Kickapoos had something to do with the murders. Periodically the "wards" in that region break over the restraints of the reservation. On all such occasions our frontier settlers and surveying parties have to suffer. But winter is approaching, and for a few months we shall have a temporary cessation of these atrocities. The predatory bands will go on the reservations to be fed, housed and clothed during the rigorous months by the General Government. In the dead of winter your Apache and your Uncepapa Sioux are harmless as doves. But in the spring—about this time look out for murder and pillage, as the almanacs would say.

MOST BRUTAL MURDER.

We have received from Lot Livermore, Esq., of Pendleton, the following communications relative to the brutal murder of W. W. Goodwin in Utah:

PENDLETON, Nov. 5, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I enclose copy of letter received yesterday from J. N. High, late Indian Agent at Fort Hall—from which it appears that W. W. Goodwin, formerly of this place, has been murdered. Goodwin was about 20 years old, and respected by all who knew him. His mother lives in this place, and he has a married sister living on Dry Creek, near Walla Walla.

Yours respectfully,
LOT LIVERMORE.

CORINNE, Oct. 29, 1873.

LOT LIVERMORE—Dear Sir: It is quite certain that W. W. Goodwin, of your city, who came to Fort Hall with a band of horses for Messrs. Lewis & Fisher, is murdered. On the morning of the 17th of this month he left Col. Wood's ranch on Snake river to go home. He had his saddle-horse and a grey horse belonging to some emigrants, who had lost and asked Goodwin to bring it if found before he left. The emigrants are going to some place near your city, and will doubtless stop and enquire for him when they get to your town. There was a white man named James Gash, and a half-breed named Pete Matte in company with Goodwin when he left Wood's ranch on the morning of the 17th. They pretended they were going to Boise, and would travel with him. In the evening Goodwin's horse came to Wood's ranch lame, and with the saddle under his belly. Soon after the half-breed came after the horse, saying they had been after deer, and the horse had got away. The story he told not being reasonable, Colonel Wood sent men out on the road next morning to see if all was right. These men discovered blood, tracks and other evidence that Goodwin had been shot while in the edge of the river. He had jumped up the bank, run through the brush to his horse, got on the saddle, and had ridden some rods before he fell off. Then he was dragged to the river and thrown in. His horse, which was wounded, was then led into the river and killed. The horse had run to Wood's ranch, after Goodwin had fallen off, but was followed and brought back as mentioned above. The two murderers have turned back and, avoiding the ranch, started for Montana, taking the emigrant's grey horse with them. We have got track of them, and I feel confident will get them. Besides the horse, they have a $100 bill which they took from Goodwin, which I paid him, have the number of, and can identify. I think Goodwin had between $300 and $400. The murderers knew he had the money and killed him for it. I have learned since I came here (three days ago) that Goodwin's body and also that of his horse, have been found. This renders the conviction of the murderers certain, if found. They are well known, as well as the residence of the half-breed's parents, and if the matter is pushed cannot escape. When last seen they were nearly home, and doubtless will not expect to be pursued, as they made pretty sure work, and think Goodwin will not be missed for sometime, and then his death will be attributed to Indians. It will be well for some friend to come over and look after this matter. He had better come by stage and cars to Corinne, and then take the stage to my place at Ross Fork on the Fort Hall reservation. We will lend them every assistance in our power, and are now doing all we can. I was former Indian agent at the reservation, and am now senior member of the firm of High & Fisher, Indian traders, at Ross Fork on the reservation. Our store is on the stage road to Montana, and any one coming to see after this matter will find a welcome not only from us but from every one in the country, as Goodwin was loved and respected by every one whom he met in this country, and his death has created a profound feeling of sorrow for him and his friends, and indignation towards his murderer. I shall return to my home in the morning. Conveying through you to the friends of Goodwin my sympathy and that of all who knew him, I am, sir, most respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. N. HIGH.

Gen. Joe Johnston is credited with an intention to publish an account of the events preceding his removal from command of the rebel forces operating against Gen. Sherman. Such a book from his pen will not tend to add to Jeff. Davis' peace of mind by any means.

THANKSGIVING.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

In grateful acknowledgment of the uncounted blessings of Providence in our bountiful harvests, continued health, and general peace, and in recognition of the notable fact that while during the past year many of our sister States have been sufferers from pestilence and financial distresses, while we have been vouchsafed the full enjoyment of more than usual prosperity and exemption from disease, and while devastations by fire have visited our chief city, and several other localities within our borders, they have served to exhibit such recuperative power in our people as to turn seeming disasters into good fortune.

Now, therefore, I, L. F. Grover, Governor of the State of Oregon, do appoint Thursday, the 27th day of November, A. D. 1873, to be observed as a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God, the Great Giver of all good and perfect gifts, for the mercies and blessings of the year now drawing to a close.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State of Oregon to be affixed at the Executive office, in the city of Salem, this 1st day of November, A. D. 1873.

S. F. CHADWICK, Sec'y of State.

CITY.

Government Snag Puller.—Yesterday morning the Government snag puller was towed from Oswego to this city by the steamer Senator. Operations, we learn, have been suspended along the upper Wallamet until next spring. This snag puller, concerning which so much has been said, and which has removed so many serious obstacles to the navigation of the Wallamet, was built at Oregon City late in the fall of 1871. Her dimensions are, length, 100 feet, beam, 24 feet; hold, 5 feet. The boat, although the model is not handsome, was constructed with express reference to strength, and is built in the most powerful and compact manner. After being built and equipped, the boat ascended the river and began operations on the 4th of November, 1871, and was not hauled off for the season until December 8th. During those five weeks about one hundred snags were pulled out, and other obstructions removed. Operations were commenced the following year on the 12th of August, and were suspended on the first of November. Effective work was rendered during 1872, over 250 large snags being removed from along the channel at various points. This season the snag puller resumed work June 11th, and did not cease until the 7th of the present month. Five months' very effective work has been rendered this year, during which time nearly 500 snags have been removed. Eight hundred and fifty snags have been torn out by the puller since operations first began, besides many other obstructions in the way of sunken logs, stones, shoals, sand bars, etc., have been removed from the channel.

Work was first begun this year at the mouth of Stewart's Slough, a few miles below Corvallis, and was continued down the river to the mouth of the Yamhill. The requisite amount of power to tear out imbedded logs and pull up snags is obtained by a powerful capstan and a system of tackling. By this arrangement a sufficient quantity of power can be had, with the aid of four men, to pull out any ordinary snag, or snap asunder a large cable chain. Giant powder, in the labor of tearing out and removing these obstacles, rendered very great and valuable service. In fact the aid of this tremendous explosive substance was indispensable in many instances. Whenever a large tree was found deeply imbedded in the bottom of the river which defied the immense power of the machinery, all that was necessary would be to bore a hole with an augur, place in the center of the trunk a small quantity of the giant powder, ignite it by means of a water-proof fuse, and the huge piece of timber would be blown asunder, thus rendering its removal quite an easy task. Nothing—rock, wood or earth—was found capable of resisting its gigantic strength.

While the puller was lying at the mouth of the Yamhill river, orders were received to proceed down through the locks to the Clackamas Rapids, to make some improvements, if possible, at that point. Pursuant to such orders, the puller began operations at the rapids. But it was soon discovered that work there was wholly useless, in fact rather tended to make matters worse. All the work performed at the point where the water shoots through the rapids, caused the bar which lies just above the mouth, to approach so near the surface that the steamers raked as they ascended or descended. So the work was abandoned, and further operations for the season ordered suspended.

During the past summer and fall, five men have been constantly employed on the snag-puller. Mr. Geo. G. Smith has had the entire superintendency of the work, directing the operations, etc. Next year operations will again commence.

Passengers.—The steamer Ajax, which sailed hence for San Francisco yesterday at 4 o'clock, carried away the following passengers: Mrs. Henry Thielsen, Hon. J. W. Nesmith, Dr. H. G. Steele, J. Green, G. A. Lawar, J. Vaten, wife and sister, I. T. Stevens, Sam Redlish, C. C. P[illegible], S. W. Ravely and wife, Mrs. L. H. Farrish and children, J. C. Sutton, sister and two boys, W. Spangle, J. E. Pugh, W. Ayres, S. Scott, Josie Romines, I. M. Campbell, wife, four children and servant, Mrs. G. P. Barrett, Warren Leland, Burk Hall and boy, S. O. L. Potter, C. O. Jones, S. S. Marin, wife and two children, E. H. Sch[illegible], Bloomfield, Col. R. M. Batchelder, Miss C. Bachelder, Mrs. M. E. Dexter, Major H. M. Robert, wife and two children, F. M. Wa[illegible], J. H. Rinehart, wife, two children and servant, D. Barrett, M. Bledsoe, S. Meier, Jule Percy, J. T. Buxton, F. M. Rice, Rev. T. Crowl, and 50 in the steerage.

Limb Dislocated.—Yesterday a gentleman named Hallam, while out riding in the southern portion of the city, met with a severe accident. He was mounted on a fractious horse, which took fright and threw the rider to the ground. Mr. Hallam struck violently on one knee, stunning him and dislocating the right hip joint. Dr. Wm. H. Cardwell was summoned, who reduced the dislocation with the aid of chloroform.

Held for Postage.—The following letters are held for postage at the Postoffice in this city: Julia Shaw, Mrs. Merrill, Miss T. Marble, G. A. Duvall, J. H. Sampson, Wesley Choat, J. E. Johnston, E. Anna Maria Peterson, W. Hume, L. H. Whitehouse, Liberal Republican, Miles O. Strom, L. Miller, Mrs. C. J. McCall, Department of Justice, A. J. Watson.

Weather Report.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, Nov. 7, 1873:

Apple Juice.—A sample of this article, commonly known as cider, was left at our office yesterday by Mr. Thomas, who is extensively engaged in the manufacture of cider and vinegar at the corner of Taylor and Second streets. If the sample we received is like all he makes, then we are willing to take stock in it.

Catsup.—A bottle of tomato catsup, prepared by Mrs. J. H. Eagan, of this city, placed upon our table, has been sampled and is found to be of superior quality. Why not make all this article used here, at home, and stop one of the leaks by which our money all goes to California and elsewhere.

Sociable and Oyster Supper.—The ladies of Taylor street church will, on next Wednesday evening, give a sociable and oyster supper. An excellent time is anticipated. All are invited.

MILITARY ORDER.

We are in receipt of the following General Order (No. 102) which has just been issued.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
ADJUTANT'S GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10, 1873.

The President of the United States commands it to be made known that all soldiers who have deserted their colors, and who shall, on or before the 1st day of January, 1874, surrender themselves at any military station, shall receive a full pardon, only forfeiting the pay and allowances due them at the time of desertion, and shall be restored to duty without trial or punishment on condition that they faithfully serve through the term of their enlistment.

By order of the Secretary of War.
E. D. TOWNSEND, Adjutant General.

This order affects several thousand men now living on this coast. Nearly 2,500 enlisted men of the army have deserted from their regiments stationed in the Pacific States and Territories, since January, 1871. Printed descriptive lists of these men, and all others who have deserted while serving on this coast, will soon be placed in the hands of Marshals and Deputy Marshals of districts, Sheriffs, magistrates and police officers. It will be thus seen that many of the deserters who do not deliver themselves up under the liberal terms now offered by the President will surely be arrested or live in peril of arrest and punishment.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Jolly Good Fellows will give another of their popular social hops at Nonpareil Hall next Tuesday evening.

On next Thursday evening the Washington Guard will entertain their friends at their Armory by giving a grand social dance.

As soon as the new building for Protection Engine Company No. 4 is finished, a grand parade and ball will take place on the evening of dedication. It is supposed that the house will be finished by December 25th.

DEPARTURE OF HON. J. W. NESMITH.

This distinguished gentleman who was the popular choice of the voters of the State at the late election, to represent the interests of Oregon in Congress, in the position lately rendered vacant by the lamented death of Hon. Joseph G. Wilson, took his departure last evening on the steamer, bound for Washington, whither he goes to be present at the opening of Congress, next month. Just before the sailing of the steamer, a large number of personal and political friends tendered Mr. Nesmith a parting reception, befitting the occasion of his departure from the State which has thus honored him, and the high position to which he was elevated. At half-past 3 o'clock the Portland Brass Band, attired in neat uniform, repaired to the Cosmopolitan Hotel to escort the Congressman-elect to the wharf. Two splendid barouches also drove up in front of the hotel, which were to convey the honorable gentleman and the reception committee to the steamer. When Mr. Nesmith made his appearance and took his seat in the handsome four-in-hand carriage, three cheers were proposed and given to the newly-elected Congressman. The Band then marched away towards the wharf, followed by the carriages. On reaching the steamer, Mr. Nesmith was escorted up the gangway to the deck. Calls for a speech were then made by the crowds on the wharf, in compliance with which Mr. Nesmith delivered a few happy, appropriate remarks. He thanked them all for the honor they had conferred on him. He was going to Washington to work with a purpose for the whole State of Oregon. He should know neither friend nor foe in his future work in Congress. The whole people of the State, without regard to political cast or complexion, had claims on him, and he should bend all his energies to accomplish good and promote the best interests of Oregon. He should labor earnestly and faithfully to discharge the grave duties and responsibilities which his present position rendered incumbent on him. After repeatedly assuring them that he should be actuated by no partisan zeal in his Congressional labors, but would have the interest of the whole State at heart, Mr. Nesmith retired, amid loud and hearty cheers. A lively air was struck up by the band as the steamer swung out into the stream, carrying away Mr. Nesmith and also a hundred good wishes for a safe, speedy and pleasant trip to his new field of labor.

In the matter of the petition of A. J. Watson for the vacation of a part of Watson's Addition to the city of Portland, order made granting the petition, with the proviso that the vacation of the street and plat, as prayed for, shall not operate in any way to change or effect the location and use of any county road running through or near the part vacated.

In the matter of the petition of S. M. Reeder and others for the location of a county road, report of Commissioners to assess damage read second time, and order made establishing the road as prayed for.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

Boating, cricketing and base ball are things of the past in this vicinity as far as this season is concerned.

The Eastern championship up to October 28th stood:

Clubs	Games Played.	Won.	Lost.
Boston	61	[illegible]	1[illegible]
Philadelphia	52	[illegible]	16
Athletic	51	24	2[illegible]
Baltimore	5[illegible]	[illegible]	21
Mutual	56	29	21
Atlantic	52	17	35

At that time nine games were to be played. No matter how these resulted, the position of the clubs would stand at the close of the season as above. The Boston club therefore hold the whip permanent for another year. This is Harry Wright's nine, several of whom were in the old "Red Stockings."

OREGON PRESBYTERY.

The Presbytery for Oregon and Washington Territory convened on Thursday evening, at the First Presbyterian Church in this city.

The exercises were opened with a discourse by the Rev. J. R. Thompson, on the Second Commandment, after which the Presbytery was called to order by the Moderator, Rev. Dr. Lindsley.

The roll being called, the following members were found in attendance:

Ministers present: Rev. A. L. Lindsley of Portland, E. R. Geary, D. D., of Albany, J. R. Thompson of Olympia, T. J. Weeks of San Juan Archipelago, J. Rea of Port Townsend, W. T., T. Crowl of Seattle, M. G. Mann of Eugene City, H. Gans of Portland, G. Ross of Tualatin Plains, W. A. Smick of Roseburg.

Churches—Portland, Elder E. B. Babbitt, Pleasant Grove, Mr. Condit.

The Presbytery then adjourned until Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Presbytery convened yesterday morning.

After half an hour spent in devotional exercises, the Presbytery was called to order.

Revs. D. K. Nesbit of Corvallis, and W. R. Stewart of Salem, appeared and were enrolled.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Instructions were given to the last temporary clerk to complete the record and present it to the Presbytery.

Mr. Nesbit, chairman of the committee to draft appropriate resolutions regarding the death of Rev. Jesse B. Wilson of Eugene City, was instructed to convey the action of the Presbytery to Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. Thompson reported that in pursuance of the advice of the Presbytery, Mr. D. C. Beatty had resigned the position of Elder in the Olympia Church.

Mr. Crowl reported the organization of a Presbyterian Church at Tacoma by himself and Rev. Dr. Lindsley, on the 17th of July, 1873, and desired that the Presbytery receive the Church in its care.

Rev. Mr. Hetzler, of the United Brethren, agent of the American Bible Society, being present, was invited to the privileges of the floor.

An application from Rev. G. F. Whitworth, of Seattle, for mission work, was received and placed upon the docket.

Rev. Mr. Stewart made a statement regarding a conference with the Oregon Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, looking towards a union.

Rev. Dr. Geary, Rev. Stewart and Gen. E. B. Babbitt, were appointed a Committee to consider the subject and report to the Presbytery, and the hearing of this report was made the first order of the afternoon session.

Rev. Mr. Geary read a letter from the Stated Clerk of Synod, regarding the Standing Committee, and in the same connection, Messrs. Thompson, Crowl and Babbitt were appointed a Committee on Finance, Assessments, etc.

Mr. Thompson paid to the Stated Clerk the sum of $5 as the pro rata of the Church at Olympia.

Messrs. Lindsley, Babbitt and Condit were appointed a Committee on Devotional Exercises.

The Executive Committee of the Presbytery was authorized to nominate candidates for Trustees for Albany Collegiate Institute for the current year.

Various items of business were called up during the session and placed upon the docket.

The Presbytery adjourned to convene at 2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Presbytery met pursuant to adjournment.

After reading morning minutes, the order of the day was called, but the committee not being prepared to report, business, by common consent, was taken up.

The Committee on Presbyterial Assessments presented their report, which was accepted, approved, and is as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE.

The Committee, to whom was referred the matter of assessments, report recommending

First—That a regular assessment of twenty-five cents be levied upon each member of the church within the bounds of the Presbytery, to be expended as follows: Seven cents to be handed over to the Commissioners' Fund, ten cents to the Synod Fund, and that the remaining eight cents to form a Presbyterial Fund, out of which shall be paid a salary of $10 per annum to the stated clerk, said salary to include all the incidental expenses of his office.

Second—That the stated clerk be instructed to notify all parties that this assessment should be paid by the first of March every year.

Third—That the members of the Indian churches on the Lapwai reservation be exempted from the assessment, and that the stated clerk report to the clerk of the Synod, and also to the clerk of the General Assembly, the fact that no assessment can reasonably be expected to be paid by those churches. (Signed by the Committee.)

The Moderator reported that according to the order of the Presbytery, Rev. W. R. Stewart was appointed pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Salem, Oregon.

Mr. Stewart reported in the Eugene case, that the committee met with all parties concerned; found but one disaffected person in the congregation; that there had been misrepresentations of the views of citizens; that they did all they could to effect a reconciliation, but could not succeed; while at the same time they found a very kindly feeling towards Rev. Mr. Mann, the missionary of the Board.

The report was approved, the committee discharged, and the Presbytery recorded its thankfulness to God over the hopeful condition of affairs in that field.

Rev. Mr. Smick, a licentiate under the care of the Presbytery, applied for ordination as an evangelist for the full work of the Gospel ministry, upon which Messrs. Nesbit, Gans and Condit were appointed a Committee of Arrangements.

Rev. Mr. Crowl asked and obtained a leave of absence.

The report of the Committee on the Order of the Day was submitted and recommended.

The request of the Rev. G. F. Whitworth, for a commission from the Board of Home Missions, was indorsed with the understanding that he preside upon his field of labor with his family, and devote all his time to the free work of the ministry.

The committee upon the application of Rev. Mr. Smick, a licentiate, for ordination as an evangelist, reported favorably, and the arrangements for the public services appropriate for the occasion were put into the hands of the Committee on Devotional Exercises.

On motion, when we adjourn, it be to meet at Eugene City on the first Thursday of April, 1874, at 7 o'clock P. M.

Rev. J. D. Eaton, of the Congregational Church of Portland, being present, was invited to the privilege of the floor.

The Committee upon the Order of the Day submitted their report which was accepted, and is as follows:

REPORT.

WHEREAS, We as Presbyterians, recognize the divine sovereignty and purpose as embracing all creation and events, yet so as in no wise making God indifferent to the moral quality of human action, or lessen the accountability of men and angels as free moral agents; and,

WHEREAS, We recognize the obligations of seeking the Unity of the Christian Church as connected with the conversion of the world, as set forth in the prayer of our Lord, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we as a Church add nothing as terms of Church membership not embraced in the terms of salvation; that we do not make subscription to our standards a term of fellowship, but we are ready to receive all who have evangelized views of faith in a Savior, rendered credible by repentance and holy living according to the Word of God, and who are prepared to render obedience in the Lord to all the lawful requirements of the Church.

Second. That we are ready to enter cordially into organic union with our brethren of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church upon the basis herein set forth, or on terms equivalent thereto.

Third. That a Committee be appointed to carry these views with our fraternal salutations to the Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, and to confer with a similar committee of that body should such be appointed.

Rev. W. R. Stewart, of Salem, minister and Gen. E. B. Babbitt of Portland, elder, were appointed delegates to the next meeting of the General Assembly, the Executive Committee of the Presbytery to fill all vacancies.

The Presbytery adjourned to meet at [illegible] o'clock P. M.

Clothe Yourself.—Now is the time to make a purchase of winter clothing. If you have not done so make it a point to consult J. KOHN & CO., who are able to show you the finest assortment of goods ever displayed in the city. They have the largest store and are thus enabled to lay in an immense stock. There is no denying the fact. You need not hesitate about prices as they have put the figures down to allow but a small margin to themselves. The place is opposite the National Bank.

SPECIAL CHURCH NOTICES.

It being necessary for the Rector of Trinity Church to officiate at the Bishop Scott Grammar School, the Sunday School of Trinity Parish will meet for the present at 12.30 P. M., instead of 9 A. M.

"God's Treasury on Earth and the Treasure in Heaven" will be the subject of the sermon at the First Baptist Church to-morrow night. Services commence at 6.30. Seats free. All are cordially welcomed.

The Rev. T. J. Weeks, of San Juan Island, will preach in the morning at the First Congregational Church. The monthly Sunday School concert will be held in the evening at 7.30 o'clock, when there will be presented music, recitations, a reading and an address.

Religious services, conducted in the Swedish language, will be held in the vestry of the First Baptist Church, corner Fourth and Alder street, to-morrow afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock. Swedes and Norwegians are especially invited, although any will be welcome to participate in this worship of God.

Permission having been granted, the Scandinavian Evangelical Lutheran Church of Portland, will hold religious services until further notice, in the room of the Young Men's Christian Association over Ladd & Tilton's Bank, corner of First and Stark streets. The first service will be held on next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, conducted by Rev. A. E. Fridrichsen. Those who are kind enough to assist in the choir, will please meet the chorister, Mr. Kay, at half past 6 o'clock in the same room for rehearsal.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Frank D. Strong, of Salem, was among the passengers on the Ajax yesterday. He goes to San Francisco to remain there during the winter.

Mr. S. W. Raveley, who has been for the past two years prominently connected with the press of this city, returns to California by the steamer Ajax.

Mr. S. O. L. Potter, who has been connected with the office of Major Robert for the last three years, took his departure on the steamer. He will accompany Mr. Robert to Detroit and occupy a position there similar to the one he held while here.

Major Henry M. Robert, who was recently relieved by Gen. Michler, and ordered to Detroit to assume charge of the Lighthouse Department of the Lakes, took his departure for his new field of labor on the steamer yesterday afternoon. The Major was accompanied by his family.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.

The Government wharf is nearly completed, and in two or three days more the mechanics will be discharged. To all appearances the work has been thoroughly done, and for many years to come no further repairs will be needed.

The County Commissioners have adjourned their session, after transacting a large amount of business pertaining mostly to our county roads. The whole amount of bills is $1,851, including about $650 balance due Durgin on bridges over Washougal and Burnt Bridge creeks.

A very agreeable surprise and donation party met at the residence of Rev. A. S. Nicholson last Thursday evening. The first intimation Mr. Nicholson had that anything of the kind was going on, were donations of flour, meat, groceries, wood, etc., coming in through the day; but he was more agreeably surprised at the advent of a large party in the evening, bringing more supplies, money, etc., and the materials for a bountiful repast, of which all partook later in the evening. The party passed off very pleasantly, and the visitors retired at a reasonable hour. The value of the donations, we are informed, amounted to over one hundred dollars.

The school term of St. Luke's Parish School, Miss A. Lonnis, Principal, will commence on Monday, 10th inst. The examinations on Friday passed off very creditably, both to teacher and pupils. This school is growing in popularity and is worthy of patronage. Although the schools of Vancouver are well filled, there is a large number of bright intellects still absent. When Professor Fowler visited this place a few months ago he discovered that the most of the children, brought to him to have their heads examined, were so largely developed mentally that he advised their parents to keep them at home for two or three years to give their corporeal parts an opportunity to recuperate. The consequence is our schools are deprived of many of the brightest lights.

CARD OF THANKS.

ST. LUKE'S RECTORY,
VANCOUVER, Nov. 7th, 1873.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson would take this method of returning their sincere thanks to their many friends for their generous donations yesterday. They may be assured that such expressions of good will are thankfully received and duly appreciated by the pastor and his family.

Keep Out the Cold.—During the winter months everybody is anxious to avoid the severity of the weather, and various modes are resorted to in carrying out the best means of keeping warm. While BECK & WALDMAN are selling clothing from their immense stock at extremely low prices, it would be well to call in and select a winter suit. They keep the best, sell as low as any house, and do not propose to be outdone by any other house in the city. They are to be found at the old stand, S. W. corner Washington and Front streets.

The variety of Foreign and Domestic Fruits to be seen at W. ASCHENHEIM'S, 120 First Street, is immense for this time of the year. Go and see it.

Don't go home to-night without having previously made arrangements with John O'Neil & Co to do up a fall suit in their own peculiar style, which is quite popular, as the elegant suits daily seen on the street from this house will attest. Mr. Scharf, of the firm, has been to San Francisco. That is sufficient. Be sure to call and select from the latest arrivals which are new and novel. The place is 93 First street.

"Discretion is the better part of valor" but all are not discreet. When attacked by diseases of the kidneys or urinary organs take the great diuretic, Helmbold's Buchu. It is warranted. Beware of worthless imitations. The genuine may be known by the private proprietary stamp of H. T. Helmbold, on each bottle. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

An Extended Popularity.—Each year finds "Brown's Bronchial Troches" in new localities in various parts of the world. For relieving Coughs, Colds and Throat Diseases, the Troches have been proved reliable.

The season for coughs and colds is rapidly approaching, and every one should be prepared to check the first symptoms, as a cough contracted between now and Christmas frequently lasts a winter. There is no better remedy than Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. For all diseases of the throat and lungs it should be used internally and externally.

Lung fever, common cold, catarrhal fever and nasal discharge of a brownish color in horses, may be checked at once by liberal use of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders.

Help the Torpid Organs.

When the body is in a state of health the food taken into the stomach acts on the bowels as a stimulant, causing in them that worm-like motion by which their contents are expelled. The liver being in a natural condition, the flow of bile (which is a mild cathartic) into the intestines is ample and regular and hence the discharges are easy and sufficiently frequent. The reverse of all this constitutes costiveness and the only true method of cure is to restore the functional activity of the two important organs which use the bowels as a sewer for the egress of waste matter. For this purpose Hostetter's Stomach Bitters can be confidently recommended as the most effective of all medicines. It is not too much to say that chronic constipation would be unknown if the Bitters were in universal use as a remedy in the earlier stages of the complaint. At this period of the year, when dyspepsia with all its kindred disorders are so apt to be engendered and aggravated by the dampness of the atmosphere, this unequaled stimulant, tonic and alterative should be taken daily.

MARY AND I.

'Twas evening in May, and the soft zephyr sighed
Through branches low bending above
My Mary and I, as we wandered along,
And whisper'd of beauty and love.
"We'll make us a nest like the birdlings," I said.
"And never shall part any more."
"Oh yes," she replied, "and can furnish it nice,
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"Fair creature, there's many a wealthier man
Would gladly have you for a bride,
But no one can love you more fondly than I—
My treasure, my beauty, and pride!
Oh, had I a mansion, with carpets of gold
And silver, I'd cover the floor!"
But, smiling, she said, "You can purchase the best
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"I'll spread you a couch upon which to recline
When evening shall call us to rest
Of the fleeciest down"—but she said with a sigh,
"I like a hair mattrass the best."
"Then so it shall be, love, and tables inlaid,
And seats from some far distant shore."
"Oh no," she exclaimed, "They have elegant sets
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"But, Mary, alas, I must sadly confess
My means are but slender as yet;
To furnish a house in the style you demand
Would hopelessly plunge me in debt—
To ask you to share my poor lodgings and board
Is something that I should deplore."
She said with a smile, "You can buy very cheap
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"To-morrow, then, love, let us hurry along
To the corner of Alder and Front streets—
('Tis numbers 98 and 100 [illegible])
Where lovers so happily meet.
How many fond souls might be severed for years
From those they so fondly adore
Were it not for the beautiful furniture they have,
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

They have marble top bureaus and elegant sets
Of Bedroom furniture new
With center tables and what-nots and mirrors great,
And an endless variety of chairs, not a few.
They do a cash business, and with money in hand
To purchase every style of furniture lower,
Are able to supply all the public demand
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

We went, Mary and I, and our lives I trust
The pleasantest that [illegible]

LOGAN

GOOD BOY ROMANCES SPOILED—THE FACTS ABOUT THE GREAT INDIAN CHIEF

From the Baltimore American

All school boys have an [illegible] the authenticity of the speech which Thomas Jefferson has handed down in his Notes on Virginia as having been delivered by Logan the famous Mingo chief. But H M Addison has written a letter to the Cumberland [illegible] which is intended to shake the belief of [illegible] juveniles as read it. He attempts to show that Logan never made any such speech and that the facts therein stated are not true. Jefferson in the appendix to his Notes says that he heard the story from some person in Williamsburg whose name he [illegible]. The man may have got it from some other man who may have invented it, or probably I was the author of the supposed fiction himself. The proof of its genuineness seems to rest entirely on the fact that Jefferson seems to have believed it. Addison says that there never was any such a man as Colonel Cresap whom Logan charges with the murder of his family. There was a "Captain" Cresap in those days but he was no more responsible for the killing of Logan's relatives than he was for the murder of Abel. We do not know how much truth there is in this sketch of the Mingo Chief written by Addison

"The first authentic account of him begins about 1770. He was then very friendly to the white settlers, and enjoyed their confidence to so great an extent that Judge Brown, a pioneer near the present site of Brownsville, Pa, from whom the town probably derived its name, said of him that he was the best specimen of humanity, white or red he had ever encountered. But in his subsequent acquaintance with white men he acquired some of their vices, among which was a strong love for whisky, which as often was and is yet the case with white men ruined him by increasing and strengthening his vices till they destroyed or overcame his virtues, and when he became an enemy he was noted for his savage cruelty as he had formerly been for his fidelity [illegible]

"In 1780, at an Indian council, he got drunk and struck, and as he supposed, killed his wife. Fearing the vengeance of her friends he fled [illegible] though in his reputed speech he is reported to have said he would not turn on his heel to save his life—and he was shot dead by [illegible] Indian"

Addison further says that Logan was the son of an Indian chief, in the Susquehanna Valley, but the time or place of his birth seems as uncertain as the Massachusetts Indian who [illegible] he was born at "Nantucket, Cape Cod, and all along the shore." We do not know whether [illegible] had consulted all the authorities upon this point or not, but he seems to have overlooked Sherman Day's "Historical Collections of Pennsylvania." He tells us that Logan was the son of Shikellimus a chief of the Cayugas, who dwelt in Shamokin and in the year 1742 was converted to Christianity by the Moravian missionaries. Shikellimus had [illegible] for James Logan, Secretary of the Province, and he named his son for him. Judge Brown (whom Addison quotes) did not live near "the present site of Brownsville" but more than a hundred miles further east, in the [illegible] Valley. In those days his farm on [illegible] Creek was included in Cumberland county, but since then Mifflin and Perry [illegible] have been carved out of the territory [illegible] of the Kittanning Mountain, which [illegible] belonged to Cumberland. Brown's [illegible] (or Reedsville), which is evidently the [illegible] alluded to by Addison, is about six [illegible] from Lewiston, Mifflin county. Logan's [illegible] and the site of his cabin are near by [illegible] pretty story about Logan and one [illegible] little daughters which Ad[illegible] not attack in his forthcoming [illegible], for there are living witnesses who [illegible] from the children of the lady

When a sister of Mrs Norris (afterward [illegible] Potter) was just beginning to learn [illegible] her mother happened to express her [illegible] she could not get a pair of shoes, to [illegible] in her step. Logan stood [illegible] nothing. He soon afterward [illegible] Mrs Brown to let the little girl go up [illegible] day at his cabin. The cautious [illegible] of the mother was alarmed at such a pro[illegible] but she knew the delicacy of an In[illegible] and she knew Logan too—and with a [illegible] reluctance, but apparent [illegible] she complied with his request. [illegible] of the day wore very slowly away, [illegible] was near night when her little one had [illegible]. But just as the sun was going [illegible] the trusty chief was seen coming down [illegible] his charge, and in a moment more the [illegible] one bounded into her mother's arms [illegible] exhibiting a beautiful pair of moccasins for her little feet, the product of Logan's [illegible]

[illegible]ULL-DUGGERY

[illegible] OF A NOTED DESPERADO FOUND IN THE STREETS OF DENVER

Under this head, the Denver Tribune of a [illegible] date introduces a relic of one of Mark Twain's heroes. About daylight this morning, as a [illegible] employed by Sherman & [illegible], lumber dealers, at the corner of Blake and [illegible] streets, entered their yard to [illegible] for a day's work, he discovered on the [illegible] the office, a sack which contained something that excited his curiosity. [illegible] to fathom its depths and drew out a [illegible] which was wrapped carefully in a well worn paper bag, and a copy of the [illegible] Mining Journal of April 25th. These [illegible] laid aside, there appeared to the astonished gaze of the teamster a human skull [illegible] "Slade, the Montana murderer."

Mr Lewis at once took possession of the [illegible], and his office was visited to-day by [illegible] anxious to get a sight of it. Among others who came up was Shep[illegible], a plainsman of fourteen years experience, who knows Colorado, Montana, Idaho and all the Territories almost by heart, knew [illegible] and was present at his execution in Virginia City, in the spring of 1864. The skull [illegible] somewhat the belongings of such a [illegible] as Slade was known to be—broad [illegible] the cheek bones, and low, retreating [illegible]. "Shep" who just returned yesterday from piloting the Hayden scientific party [illegible] reminiscences of the man Slade, [illegible] in his day was the most dreaded man in the [illegible] Mountain region

[illegible] came out from Illinois in the days of the California gold fever and dodged about on the plains for a long time, dividing his attention between the Indians and the avoiding of a [illegible] band of vigilantes who were hunting him to "settle" some flagrant outrages which he had perpetrated back in the States

After roving about for several years he was [illegible] at Julesburg as agent for Holladay's Overland Stage Company, he being deemed an "available" man to face the cut throats who [illegible] in that region, often molesting the company's property. He supplanted another [illegible] equally desperate man—Jules [illegible] Frenchman, with whom he afterward had a desperate encounter, both receiving dangerous wounds. Subsequently Slade killed Jules, and committed a series of barbarities too atrocious to relate, cutting off Jules's ears and furiously [illegible] him.

After a career of unexampled violence passing now for a desperado, now for a valued cit[illegible], killing (by common report) twenty six [illegible], this man, feared as a route agent ex[illegible] it, "from Fort Kearney west a great deal more than the Almighty," was caught by a party of outraged miners at Virginia City, Montana, and hung. It was supposed at the time that his body was shipped East to his friends. At least nothing transpired to warrant any further attention to the matter. The finding of the skull calls out the reminiscences which we have noted. Slade visited Denver in the days when his ghastly exploits were the talk of the bar room, coach and street all through the Territories

McENERY, THE POLYSYLLABIC.—John McEnery, who styles himself legally elected but deposed Governor of Louisiana, has sent a polysyllabic telegram to Governor elect Wm Allen of Ohio in which he says: "Ohio has proudly vindicated her claim to constitutional limits upon government and exhibited her unmistakable aim to restore the administration of her affairs to the traditional purity of the time honored Democracy and may she under your wise and patriotic guidance be in the future what she is now and has been in the past, one of the grandest members of the Federal Union"

A writer in the Providence Journal gives an interesting account of the authorship of "Old Grimes," saying, once more, that it was written all but the first [illegible] by the late Judge Albert G. Greene of Rhode Island, and first published in a Providence paper as early as 1823.

[illegible] the Mint for coinage there being no export demand. The Mint consequently is turning out a large amount this month at least $[illegible] making a supply of nearly $[illegible] for the month with transfers. The country from now to January will send money to the city increasing the supply of coin while the export of produce furnishing [illegible]. The export value this week has been $1,000,000 and with silver bullion makes a credit of $[illegible] for the week in favor of the state. It will be observed from the return below that since the 1st of January the exports of merchandise have been $22,4[illegible] or exceeding the treasure export in the same time by more than $1,000,000. While money affairs are thus strong here fear of complications growing out of financial trouble at the East are rapidly subsiding. It is now nearly two months that the storm has been raging there while here all is as calm as a summer's morning. There are no obligations of merchants traders or corporations that cannot be readily met and accumulated money is becoming rather a burden. The low prices of the best sterling bills in New York have prompted some desire to buy them for the profit but in such a state of affairs as exists there it is better not to take the risks. The amount of funds which had arrived in New York from London to take up those bills up to the 2d ult was $7,000,000; the amount on the way was $8,000,000, making $15,000,000. Of the sums received over $[illegible] went into the Assay Office for recoinage. Some other sums are supposed to have gone to Canada and others again held in the English coin by private bankers to wait the turn in the market

The Wheat Market

The telegraphic news seems to have given the Wheat market a renewed life and holders of the cereal were to-day in good heart. Transactions at present are limited as it seems impossible for holders and buyers to come together on the question of rates. The depletion of the supply in store here is going on quite rapidly but amends are being made by increased receipts of large lots heretofore purchased in the interior and stored to await transportation. The offers to-day are made at nothing less than [illegible] cents per [illegible] sacks included while buyers are loth to accede to such figures and hold out for $1 90 per cental. The tonnage supply since July 1st has been already larger than the public knew of or expected and has led to the anticipation of much more in the future. Whether such hopes are to be realized none can tell except those who are engaged in the business and they are not generally inclined to communicate all their knowledge to the public. However a fair supply of transportation is pretty well assured and farmers will get off their remaining surplus wheat at all that the price in the markets of demand will bear

Since the first of July we have had twenty ships in this port loading wheat for Europe and thirteen sailing vessels loading same for San Francisco. These vessels with the steamers going to the latter port, will have carried away, when those now here have loaded, not less than 1,600,000 bushels to which, if we add the flour shipped as the equivalent of so much wheat we have an aggregate of nearly 2,000,000 bushels. A very fair showing for a port of Portland's size

TO THE UNFORTUNATE

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY [illegible] NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established [illegible] 1854 for the treatment of [illegible] and Seminal Diseases, [illegible] Gonorrhœa, Gleet, [illegible] Syphilis in all its forms, [illegible] Weakness, Impotency, etc. Diseases (of years standing) [illegible] Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing [illegible] he has returned from visiting the principal [illegible] tals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Di[illegible]

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence or from virus absorbed into the system? Look at the pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment [illegible]. In this horrid situation thousands [illegible] closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, tend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for [illegible] and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

S[illegible] Weak[illegible]

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of [illegible]. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion of ideas, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, [illegible] frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and [illegible] mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give [illegible] Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco [illegible]

[illegible]

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are laboring under any of those fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility [illegible] nor delay to obtain [illegible]

DR. GIBBON is [illegible]ble, and will give his patient a written instrument, binding him to effect a radical and permanent cure, or no charge.

Cured at [illegible]

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By enclosing [illegible] Dollars coin in registered letter through the post office or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the U[illegible]

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with boasts sworn to [illegible] the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the [illegible] and [illegible] newspapers of San Francisco and other [illegible] tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, [illegible] carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' [illegible]. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he professes to cure

Address DR. J F GIBBON 623 Kearney [illegible] corner Commercial, San Francisco, Postoffice Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN 1,61[illegible]
